Program Description: NLC's Advanced Certificate in Interprofessional Mental Health and Addictions is designed to provide diploma and degree holders with specialized education in the field of collaborative mental health and addictions services provided by the Northern Health Authority. Using health promotion and psychosocial rehabilitation as foundations for practice, students will engage in assessment, planning, and interventions that support complex needs. A holistic, trauma-informed, harm-reduction, and strength-based approach is emphasized throughout, with sensitivity to cultural contexts.

As reflective practitioners, graduates will be prepared to apply effective leadership, advocacy, and critical thinking skills to their work with individuals, families, and groups. A cumulative practicum ensures preparation for integrated practice within the health care system.

Admission Requirements:

1a. Baccalaureate degree or diploma in child and youth care, education, nursing, occupational therapy, psychology, or social work.

OR

1b. Alternative credentials and/or experience in human and health services may be considered.

AND

2. Previous post-secondary education must include successful completion of a baccalaureate-level academic writing course (e.g., NLC's English 100: Academic Writing or an equivalent).

Note on Post-Admission Requirement: NLC must receive Criminal Record Check Schedule B clearance for working with children and vulnerable adults by the first day of classes. Where viable, use of the Sharing Form is encouraged.
